a telephone-pictionary game

6-24 players

Ages 13+

Materials:

- ⇒ Notebooks
- ⇒ Phrase Cards:
  - Light Purple ~ Level 1 ~ Literary Titles
  - Purple ~ Level 2 ~ Literary Scenes
- ⇒ Pens, pencils, markers (not included)

Rules:

- The number of rounds will equal the number of players.
- Each notebook is a "game" and all will be played simultaneously.
- When drawing, avoid writing out words.

How to Play:

Players form a circle. Choose a level of phrase cards. The stack of cards are placed face down in the middle of the circle of players.

Round 1: Draw – 7 mins

- Each player takes one notebook and one phrase card without showing anyone the card.
- Each player writes their name on the front cover of the notebook.
- Each player writes the phrase of the given card on page 1 of the notebook then turns to page 2 and illustrates the phrase just given.
- Each player has 10 minutes to draw.

Round 2: Guess – 3 mins

- After 10 minutes, each player passes the notebook (with their drawing visible) to the player on their left.
- Each player now must guess what the drawing is and write it down on page 3.

Round 3+:

- The players continue to draw, pass, and guess the previous player's phrase or drawing until they receive their original notebook.

Final Round: Reveal

- Each player will reveal the progression of the first drawing to the last phrase (or drawing).
- Discussions over interpretation of drawings are encouraged!

Optional game play:

- Players are welcome to omit the use of provided cards and create their own starting phrases.
- Suggestion: come up with a theme as a group to use.

- Add scoring /badges: Players can use the provided tokens (monkey for drawings, dishes for phrases) to give to another player if they "like" the drawing or guess they created. At the end of the entire game, the player with the most monkey tokens wins a Drawing Badge and the player with the most dish tokens wins a Phrases Badge.
